to be married to a wealthy miner. There's any where have better, have managed, by courage extraordinary for you.

W. W. O BRIEN, Esq., the distinguished Irish orator, will wake the echoes in Cairo next Saturday. He will make the Radi-the tide in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo and other points in Ohio where large Liberal gains were made, look out for Illinois. The wave will be a big one.

BRIGHAM YOUNG is said to be afflicted with a heart disease which may end fatally. No wonder. He has lost his heart about fifty times and could not expect it to remain sound under such circum-

THE influence of Mrs. Surratt, in her grave, is one of the powerful obstacles Andy Johnson has to overcome in his race for congress in Tennessee. His opposers have rung the changes on the death of the poor woman without ceasing.

THE Radicals overdid the matter in Pennsylvania. Hartranft's majority is estimated now at over thirty-five thousand. Fifteen or twenty thousand would have elected their candidate of fraud and corruption all the same, and looked a great deal more reasonable.

A suip canal around the falls of Niagara on the American side, to be built at the expense of the government, is one of the enterprises now discussed by various boards of trade of Western cities. Resolutions calling attention to the insufficient means of transportation from the Northwestern states to the Atlantic sea-board, have been addressed to the president of the United States and it is probable the matter will receive attention by congress at its next session.

Col. GROSVERNOR has been nominated for congress by the Liberals and Democrats of the First district, Missouri. The Colonel is one of the ablest men of the West. He is the architect who built the Liberal party. His bis children being heirs to all the possibil-rare qualities as an organizer brought not so certain. My condemnation of educaharmony out of the chaos of the opposition; but his programme was sadly disarranged when Brown and Blair raised the white mot so certain. My condemnation of education is that it is not complete, it is not fully rounded. It does not prepare us for the excigencies of life. The German student who has become dyspeptic over his together for the grand battle in November.

IT is cheering to record the fact that there is no back down in the Liberals of Illinois. In a speech made at Williamsville in Sangamon county on Saturday, Governor Palmer made a noble appeal, counseling the Liberal party to renewed efforts to displace the Radicals from power and save the country a repetition of the last four years of misrule and corruption and thus save it from ultimate despotism. The governor's speech was received with the loudest applause by an enthusiastic au-

WAKE UP We appeal to the Liberals and Democrats of Cairo to cast off the mantle of indifference, in which they seem to be en-

Let us not be told that some one must lead. This is the people's cause, and the people should take it in hand.

Why have the Greeley men of Cairo no well-organized club? Why have not the friends of Korner and Wall become aggressive? The Grant men long ago were organized into clubs. The Liberals are still wandering about unorganized, their energies being dissipated in the face of an active and well-generaled enemy.

This will never do!

Come, Liberal friends, wake up! Organize clubs; call in speakers; send out canvassers to ascertain your strength, to cheer doubting and enthuse the indifferent. Our case is not lost. If we labor with half the zeal the importance of victory on our part demands, we will come out of the battle in November with Illinois redeemed and Greeley elected.

ENTHUSIASM.

We, the good people of Southern Illinois, and in particular of the lower counties, have been in the habit of becoming exander county, at the ensuing election in intensely excited over every impending election : but how is it with us in "this extreme moment of the nation's peril?"

> There is Major Munn, the amiable ex-Postmaster Linegar and the Gentle Pope. In former campaigns they have never failed to become extremely agitated. But now how calm and cool they are! The sea when no breath of air is stirring is not calmer, and cucumbers are not cooler. Their indifference has infected the rank and file, and enthusiasm in the Radical party is confined mostly to the negro quarters. Calmness prevails on the Radical

On the Liberal side, how is it? The evidences of intense enthusiasm are not so numerous as shells on the shore, but there are a few, a very few, and this fact cheers our drooping spirits. The great leaders of our Liberals are not as active as ants on a hot surface, but they are active. We know they are, because they have told us so. These leaders, than whom no Liberals an infusion of their own spirit into their followers-meek and lowly lambs that they are !- to arouse the party in this section into what we have been informed is earnestness that borders upon, if it does not cross, the line of enthusiasm. Ir as it is asserted, the Germans turned They are everywhere, and their mouths and purses are constantly opening for the cause. It is to them must be given praise. These facts may not be apparent to the general observer, who may look in vain for the evidences of Liberal zeal in this district, but they will be revealed to those who can penetrate under the surface and look about with sagacious eyes. Such people will be compelled to acknowledge with us that this is a most remarkable can vassthat the manner in which the Liberal-Democratic managers have conducted it has been wonderful, and, we may add. incomprehensible and past finding out. We are encouraged by this fact. It makes us feel extremely happy, and we propose three cheers. For what? No matter; it is a duty we owe to the superfor genius of those who run us to cheer, > and we propose to do our duty. HORACE GREELLY ON EDUCA-TION.

At Kutztown, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday, Mr. Greeley made two speeches, one on education and one on agriculture. The following is a synopsis of the one on education, delivered before the Normal school: Education, my young friends, has its legitimate objects, the development of the man or woman, intellectually or mentally, and the development of the workman When I advocate the pressic side of the question of education I do not mean to disparage the other. From the days of Plate it has been understood that educa-tion makes the man, and his fitness for the exigencies of the world will come after. I have known not less than a thousand thoroughly educated—that is, expensively educated men, in New York—men who have entered German, or English or American colleges, and have been sent forth with diplomas, who are yet utterly unable to earn their bread and are to-day pacing the stony strects in a vain search for something to do. I consider it the reproach and shame of education, that while every robust, temperate ignoramus that lands upon our shores with money enough to buy an axe is morally certain to earn his bread, to become in time a thrifty citizen, hat of Greeley in the Cincinnati convention and proclaimed it the standard of Liberalism. We hope he may be elected. In congress he would make his mark.

In congress he would make his mark.

In congress he would make his mark. for some women have aspirations to be come lawyers and even presidents—it is getting on to this end, I believe—[laughter]—but I mean that they should have

BUSINESS MEN! some accomplishment in perfection with which the world is not likely to get out of fashion. A bad education sends man into the world useless. Educated men, while they are capable of better work than mere manual labor, ought in the absence of that better work to be able to do the manual work better than the uneducated man. If they have to dig ditches they ought to dig them better than the ignorant man. When old men are asked to pay $1,000 for a son's education they say they don't know about it. This education is not efficient in their sphere of life. A farmer's son ought to come back from college qualified to show his father how better to work his farm. If not, if he returns with a great deal of philosophy and mathematics and sciences out of the range of the old man's apprehensions, such education is likely to be unduly disparaged. We ought to expend more money than we do now on education, but we must make veloped, and manifest the enthusiasm they no doubt feel in the Liberal cause.

the people who pay the money realize the good in education. I am told that the higher and more abstruse studies are an excellent discipline for the mind. But why not more solid truths, less out of the way truths, serve as a discipline as well as these? I have been forty years away from schools. I never had aught but a com-mon education. My life might have been better and more useful otherwise, for I have traveled all over this earth, from the Atlantic sea on the east to the Pacific ocean on the west, and every day I have deplored the want of knowledge of chemistry and geology as I walk dumb and blind amid the wonderful work of God's creation across plains which spoke and blind amid the wonderful work of God's creation across plains which spoke with God's eloquence, which my limited education prevented me from enjoying. I had no other time for schooling than in the winters of the first ten warr of the street of the best quality. Music, Magazines and that clas of books we will bind in Genuine Morocco in the very best style. Cloth or Paper, at 75 cents to $1 per Volume. Price of same in St. Louis is $1 00 to $1 50. in the winters of the first ten years of my youth. I never saw during that time a book on chemistry—or geology—never knew that such books existed—and I feel now that my life would have been more useful and more enjoyable if I had had time and the chance to study them. Learn all we will, we are still imperfectly taught. Let the little that the student may know, then, irradiate the path just about him. When graduates say, "I am educated, and therefore cannot work with my hands," they are miseducated. We are educating young people out of usefulness. The true man will do the best work that to-day presents to him. Labor is becoming with our advanced civilization more intellectual and less physical. In a few years steam will supply all the physical forces of industry. The noblest duties are teaching us how more rapidly to create these new processes, and n time all the forces required will be furnished by artificial power. But I do not disparage the needs of education. The man is, after all, the thing to be perfected. The university student must have bread, and knowledge of the old phiosophers is not really turned into bread. would have no man sent out not qualified to earn his living by his hands, if need be. I would have each graduate a better armed man, so that if he were wrecked on a desert island he could get along all the better for his education. I would have ed-ucation bristling with good points, so that, encased in it, he could the better meet the
